Put one over on the phone company.

Wait till after 7 p.m. and call anywhere in the country for a dollar.

If long distance callers had to take an oath, it would probably go something like this:

"Call we will,
Call we must.

But when we do,
It'll be after dusk."

Because if there's one thing that irritates them, it's being charged more for calls during ing those hours, they can call anybody, anywhere in the country for a dollar or less.*

Obviously, calling long distance doesn't have to be expensive.

Especially if you've taken the oath.

General Telephone Adollar goes a long way.

*First three minutes, interstate, station to station, continental U.S. except Alaska
